Some of the things you should keep in mind about porcelain veneers are:

1. They require proper care as you have an original tooth.
2. Dental veneers last longer than composite resin veneers.
3. Porcelain veneers are expensive compared to others.
4. Their fabrication is completed in a laboratory, so it requires more visits
5. They are permanent so choose your dentist after examining the dentist wisely. Because the dentist will remove the enamel from your tooth and then place the veneer.

Points to consider about veneers

Porcelain veneers use materials resistant to stains, but natural teeth are not. Dental veneers don't stain over time. The porcelain veneer will stay the same if your natural teeth become discolored. If the patient experiences a teeth whitening treatment, your dentist will make sure to adjust the treatment to make the dental veneer and natural teeth shade similar.

Veneers are strong, especially porcelain veneers. They are strong and can also treat tooth stains and other imperfections.
