Apps on Erica's mobil phone

On my Iphone I have a bunch of different apps and I love them all because they're all useful or fine on some way. I have a bunch of tools so... like a calculator and a compass and a ruler and a flashlight so it's all on my phone but if I get lost in the dark I have a flashlight and I also have a GPS so I won't get lost.

I have safari for the internet and I have apps like Spotify and Sounds on which are music apps and you can go on then and listen to the radio or listen to a bunch of different music that you don't have yourself on your phone. I also have a dictionary on here in case I don't know the word means or something up and since I am learning French I have Duolingo and Duolingo really helpful when I'm learning French because it has a bunch of games on it that help me practice the language and also have a WordReference app which is useful when I'm trying to translate French into English or English into French. I also have ..let's see .. I also have bunch of games so I have a solitary game and attached us and I also have quizup which is really popular in the US right now. Quizup is an app where you get to you play a bunch of different quizzes bunch of little tests, so ..like tricky test so if you go onto quizup you can choose different categories like Disney or books or history and then you get to chose answer 5 questions about Disneyland for example and you get them right and you get them right faster you win you win points and it's found because it's like a little competition against someone off on the internet. there is also Temple Run which is also popular in the US Temple Run is overall game where you are a person in running away from a monster and you have to not fall off a cliff so it's pretty fun. And I also have Facebook and Instagram Twitter on here and I also have my horoscope in case I want to find out what my horoscope is for the day and I am also have a cooking app because I don't know how to cook so the cooking up tells me give me directions on how to you make food !
