Mostly, lunch hours are utilized for these reasons. Lunch hour is the time when most of the personal works are done. Lunch hours make it more convenient as we know that banks, government offices, and various other stores are opened during those hours of the day each week. Hence, people need to run for completing these types of personal work during those hours and if you are among those employees, the hours might not be suitable for you anymore. Few people complete these sorts of tasks during their lunch hours and some need to take special leave for these tasks. Because of this, you are not able to have your lunch with peace along with your friends and colleagues at your favorite neighborhood restaurant or cafeteria.
