

How Exactly Does Wearing Invisalign Braces Work?

You visit our clinic to verify the fit of your first set of aligners and make any required corrections. Except for when you eat, floss, and brush your teeth, you'll wear your aligners every day. You can momentarily take off your Invisalign braces whenever you need to throughout the day because they are detachable. Invisalign Treatment is simple to use and seamlessly integrates into your daily routine.

You will cover your teeth with transparent braces after you receive your aligners. You will wear each pair of aligners for two weeks before you move on to the next set. Your aligners will first fit tightly since they make them shift your teeth slowly and precisely. After a few days, your teeth gradually move to a new position. You will notice that your aligners will feel a little loose after some days or weeks.

Don't switch them too soon, even if they start to feel loose. For the entire two weeks, wear them. Your teeth and gums have time to adapt to the new position, which will hamper your treatment strategy if you switch aligners too soon. You will visit our office for an appointment every six weeks to check your aligners and see how your treatment is going.
