

Why Dental Implants Are Better Than Other Procedures?

A dental implant is a fixture that is embedded within the jaw bone and take place of the natural teeth without any weird feeling, such as a crown or removable or fixed denture. After the placement of the best dental implant, bone formation happens in the surroundings of the implant, producing firm anchorage and stability of the newly implanted tooth.

- How Do Dental Implants Work?

The success and excellent durability of dental implants are certainly based upon how well they are connected to the jawline. This process is termed osseointegration and ensures that any prosthesis that is placed over the implant stays strong and managed, thereby restoring optimal functioning even after being the artificial tooth. - What are the advantages of taking dental implant treatments?

Dental implants are gaining widespread popularity because they are the safest and the easiest way to restore the broken teeth, in fact, if you have a single broken tooth then you can take the Single Tooth Dental Implant. Let's have a look at why you might prefer them over the other broken tooth restoration treatments:

- Enjoy a Beautiful Smile - Loss of a tooth can just make everything bad especially if it's a front tooth. Esthetically pleasing dental prostheses can be used over the implants, thereby restoring your beautiful smile and having beautiful dental aesthetics.
- Durability - Unlike dentures and dental bridges, dental implants are meant for staying for a long time. If you take proper care of your oral health and stick to the best dental hygiene, you can expect them to be serving the purpose.
- Minimal Requirement for Tooth Preparation - Fabrication of teeth bridges, even for the replacement of a single tooth that can become a bigger problem overall. On the other hand, the placement of dental implants doesn't require changes in the adjacent teeth, thereby preserving the natural bone structure.
- Eat Any Food You Like - People who wear removable or fixed dentures need to refrain from hard and sticky food. This means they have to compromise from their favourite foods. After replacing your teeth with dental implants, you can have all your favourite foods without having the fear of breaking the dentures.
