

“TREE” IN DIFFERENT LANGUAGES

By Dorians, 4th grade student of Riga Lithuanian secondary school

Summary:

How to Say Tree in Different Languages.

Subject of the study:

Word “tree”, map of Europe.

Aim of the study:

The aim is to find the translation of the word "tree" in different languages and mark them under the country names on a map of Europe.

How to investigate:

Translations can be searched in foreign language dictionaries in the library or in online translators.

Result:

Please find results of research on the map of Europe below. There are many ways to say tree in different languages.

The countries involved in our Erasmus+ project “Discover the world of the tree” are marked in red, the other countries in green.

Conclusions:

- In some languages, the word "tree" is written with a capital first letter because it is a noun.
- In some languages, it has the same translation, and in others, it is similar but not identical. Moreover, in many languages, it differs sharply from others.
- The word "tree" has different translations in different countries around the world.