The fairy tale “A seed adventure”

Once upon a time, there was a sunflower. It was big and beautiful. The Sunflower had sunflower seeds. Those were us.

The Sunflower began to wilt, and we fell to the ground. We fell somewhere and it was so dark and so quiet. The autumn days began, and the nights grew colder. We were all still living under the ground.

Winter started and we - seeds got colder and colder because the whole ground was completely covered with snow.

Spring came and everything started to blossom. We also started to poke our heads out of the ground. We grew taller, bigger and we started to develop leaves. Days went by, nights went by and we grew to about 50 cm. We had grown leaves and buds were starting to bloom. Some of them were starting to flower.

Summer was coming. The sunflowers were already big, tall and stately. All of the sunflowers were happy because they had completed their cycle of life.
