

Respect the nature

In the world, we can see a pollution with chewing-gum. They are so many because people throw their chewing-gum away. The causes of this problem are many, like polluting the floor or pollution of the nature. If people throw away the chewing-gum, it will disintegrate in 5 years. The bubble gum ruins the city because many bubble gums are on the floor or on the wall.

For stop this pollution, we can use natural resources because in the bubble gum many resources aren't natural like plastic, so we can also decrease the plastic. We can think about making it biodegradable with natural resources like fruits or starch.

For fight this problem, we can make an awareness campaign or make a demonstration to help solve the problems. To cope with this problem, we need your help and that starts with publicity on different applications.

Stop pollution!!!
