

Aksel

For me the deforestation is an important issue because fauna and flora are disappearing. The factories destroyed trees to produce paper or simply to implant other factories that destroy the ozone layer. The forest can be destroyed for create houses and hotels with that they can win more money. Deforestation is endangering millions of species like the Chinese panda which are 1705 in the world. The Bangal tiger is an endangered species of deforestation. The Amazonian forest which is the heart of our planet is destroyed just for money and nobody reacts, so today I am writing this text to raise awareness and show the injustice. I give you all appointment the April 1 in New York City to do a protest march against this crime against the planet !!!

