

Your computer will probably finish here...

You mean your computer will be reuse when you throw it ? No he will stay in a dump with many other. Sorry ... In fact, a very little part of it is reuse by factorys. In the world we have a lot of dump filled with electronic wastes but sometimes they are reusable. This wastes pollute planet and factorys makes it again instead of reuse it so they exploite more ressources. If you want a good exemple , Samsung failed a step to making their phones and instead of throw it in a dump they repair it and reuse it for rent's phones. It is a good solution to give a second life to a phone.

June 5th, 2020 we will get a stand in an event to help you to give a second chance to your computer or your phone.
