

Observez cette illustration. Mettez les adjectifs entre parenthèses au comparatif ou au superlatif selon le contexte.

- The Shard in London is nearly as high as the Eiffel Tower in Paris (high).
- The Petronas Towers are higher than the Empire State Building (high).
- Lincoln Cathedral is smaller and older than the Empire State Building (small • old).
- China now has the most original skyscrapers (original).

- With better technology, architects, engineers and builders are able to build taller and taller buildings (good • tall).
- the tallest skyscrapers in the world are built in some of the most interesting cities in the world (tall • interesting).
- One World Trade Center is said to be one of the greenest and safest skyscrapers ever built (green • safe).
- the most spectacular skyscrapers can now be seen in China (spectacular).
- The Shanghai Tower in China is among the tallest skyscrapers in the world (tall).
- It also has the world's fastest lift, which climbs the tower at a speed of 18 metres per second (fast).
- It is nicknamed ' the biggest bottle opener in the world (big)! Lots of visitors admire its shape. It is the most unusual building in the world (unusual).