

Sea Pollution

there are many problems about the pollution in our society in particular with the sea pollution.

This problem is caused by people who throw their waste in the ocean. Moreover, it is also caused by the big production of plastic and by the ill treatment of liquid waste.

This pollution was first discovered at all the famous 7th continent with 3,5 million of km² that is to say 6 times the France and 168919 times Hénin-Beaumont. This continent is made of 90 percent of plastic and weighs approximately 80000 tons. It was discovered by the American oceanographer Charles Moore in 1997.

Sea pollution provokes also the extinction of many water species such as the turtle.

And also this pollution provokes a lot of toxic effects.

To reduce sea pollution we should use other materials like glass, decrease the production of plastic and buy less plastic.

My solution for solving this problem is an Instagram account where people could subscribe, like my posts, and do donations to stop the use of plastic and find jobs for the workers.
