

WEIRD JOBS

You work in an office and you are bored? Here are some not so usual jobs waiting for you.

← Golf Ball Diver

When a golf ball falls into the water, the task of a golf ball diver is to pick it up. In modern golf courts, professional golf ball divers can become very rich picking up 3000 balls a day. The most dangerous thing is that the lake is full of glass, iron pieces and even crocodiles.

Smell Tester→

Although technology and science are more and more developing, cosmetic companies still need professional staff to smell their products. A smell tester has to smell 60 different odors three times per an hour.

← Hair Boiler

Hair boiler is considered to be the worst job. You must stand beside a big pan which is used to boil different kinds of animal hair until it becomes soft enough to make false hair.

Furniture Tester →

Fancy sitting on your backside all day or lying in bed till late? Well now you can every day at work as a furniture Tester.

← Professional Pusher

Japan is indeed a hardworking nation. It makes sure that all its people reach work on time and that's why Japan has employed people to push others onto trains so that nobody's late for work.

Car Plate Blocker→

In a bid to reduce congestion on the roads, Iran has employed a strange policy where cars with number plates ending in odd and even numbers are allowed on roads on alternate days only. Iranians hire men to walk behind their cars so that the cameras don't capture their number plates.

← Professional Mourner

You'll need these mourners if nobody gave a damn about you when you were alive. It's sad that you won't be able to see them mourn for you because you'd be in the coffin.
