Today is February 14th. Milton hasn't come back I think he must be in jail because of his arrest yesterday. I don't know when he will be back, but it will allow me to be alone with Charity.

A few hours later Charity arrived at the house. So I activated my voice assistance allowing him to come to me. I introduced myself. She was surprised by my voice assistance but it allowed us to talk for several hours. She had a facial expression that came up often as with Milton when he told me about the perfect woman. Charity is a very pretty woman with conversation, she is not too small or not too tall. She seems very intelligent to me. We even got to have a conversation in English. Our personalities are very similar. I had never spoken so much with anyone except Milton. I'm glad I got to meet her. I finally think I know what love is.

I think I have found my perfect wife and true love. If Milton would be there he would be jealous of my complicity with Charity. I wish Milton was there so He could admire my perfect wife.
