

BRITISH STEREOTYPES

- a) "Brits love small talk and our favourite topic has to be the weather outside. Commenting on the rain or sunshine is always a great conversation starter for us."
- b) "People are often surprised when they come to London or Edinburgh and it's sunny! It can sometimes feel like it rains all the time, but actually we receive average rainfall when compared with the rest of Europe."
- c) "Ooooh, put the kettle on, will you? Tea is definitely a key part of British culture. Making tea for other people is the ultimate form of British hospitality. "
- d) "Most British people are proud of their Queen - but it isn't true that we ALL love the royal family."
- e) "Why the rest of the world seems to not be able to queue as well as us remains a great mystery."
- f) "Where did this one come from? We do actually have very good dentists in the UK. I don't think our teeth are worse than anyone else's, to be honest!"
- g) "British people don't like to be overtly rude, that's true. We say "sorry", "please" and "thank you" a lot."

Source : <https://www.tandem.net/british-stereotypes-fact-fiction>

Stereotypes	text	Fact or fiction ?	Justification
 It always rains in the UK.
 British people are obsessed with the Royal Family.
 Brits are super polite
 British people enjoy queueing.
 British people are fond of tea.
 Brits have bad teeth
 Brits like talking about the weather

MATCH THE PICS WITH THE STEREOTYPES

