- Find out whether the Mother wants to dress the babies alike or different. If she has matching baby boy and baby girl outfits for every occasion or has her two twin sons or daughters dressed identically, then you should send two of whatever you choose. They should be exactly alike. If they are two blankets, it is permissible to buy pink for the girl and a blue baby blanket for the boy, but make sure they are the same identical baby blanket and it can be a nice choice for the best baby shower gifts for twins.

- If the Mother is more modern and wants to dress her twins differently, then you have more flexibility in what you choose as gifts for twin baby boys. Now you need to find out what the Mother's favorite color is or what color she has chosen for the nursery. This way you can coordinate the blankets, towels, or outfits to the color palette that matches the nursery.
- If you are going to buy totally different gifts for twin babies, boys and girls, they should cost approximately the same amount.

- It is a good idea to buy baby shower gifts for twin boys and girls that have something in common. For example, buy two towels that are totally different or buy two security blankets that are different colors and have different animal heads.
- Twins love to share. When you gift clothing, try to buy tops and bottoms that are interchangeable so that if one twin wants to wear the top of one outfit; it will match the bottom of the other outfit.
- If you want to individualize either identical or totally different gifts, you can always have them embroidered with the baby's three-letter monogram, initial, or name.

- Sometimes, you can find one gift that is meant for two. For example, there are shopping cart covers for twins or strollers designed especially for twins.
- Books are a great gift for twins. Make sure that you select a board book so that it will last through sticky fingers and sippy cup spills. In this case, you would usually buy different books that they could share. One caveat, if a twin has a favorite book, make sure to get two of the same because they might not share their favorite book.

When children are infants, you can make them wear anything of your choice, but when they become younger, it becomes slightly difficult as they now have their own choices.
