

What Spider Treatment Options Do You Have?

Nowadays, the most common problem is of varicose veins from which both men and women suffer that resemble a star where small veins radiate from a center point. Mostly, it is found on their legs and face may be blue, red, or purple says a vein doctor Hamptons.

Varicose veins are unattractive to look at and they are harmless. They are also associated with vein pressure. It is quite common in the elderly and increases with the age. It tends to run in families and it is a genetic feature.

The spider veins generally go worse and don't disappear on their own once they start developing. A sedentary lifestyle, insufficient exercise, and weight gain also lead to the progression of veins.

What are the treatment options?

- While sitting, even elevating legs and sleeping does help.
- For vein treatment in Hamptons, the most conservative option is wearing proper fitting support hoses or compression stockings. These types of stockings are present in various styles and colors and are available at pharmacies.

- Ranging from 18 to 20 mmHg to 40-50 mmHg, they are available in various compressions. According to a vein specialist Hamptons, you can wear them above or below the knee; but do remember that once developed, spider veins don't disappear even by wearing stockings.

What are other treatment options?

1. There are other spider vein treatment options available, depending on your overall health condition, size, and location of veins. To irritate and make them collapse, sclerotherapy involves the injection of a concentrated solution of sodium chloride into veins. These vessels turn into scar tissue and fade away with time.

2. A focused beam of light is targeted to the blood pigment and heats and destroys the vein in laser therapy. There is no damage to nearby skin tissue and after a month as the light is focused, the body reabsorbs the vein and disappears.
3. A new spider vein therapy that uses intense pulsed light to damage spider veins and small vascular birthmarks is called Intense light therapy. When sclerotherapy and laser therapy do not help in treating the veins, this veins treatment Hamptons is suggested.

How does spider vein laser therapy help?

Spider veins can occur on either your face or legs says varicose vein treatment, vein specialist near me Jericho. They can be unsightly, they are almost implicitly unpleasant, and they present challenges to anyone who feels as though their life would be over without some manner of treatment leading back to the body they once knew. Fortunately for many, there is hope. Many new options can help in removing red and blue veins from the face or the legs. One of these new vein treatments is spider vein therapy.

Today's new medical lasers are not only safe but effective, non-surgical treatment for the removal of both spider veins and varicose veins. This new laser treatment option delivers exactly what is needed to the trouble spots, making the laser vein treatment in Jericho technology not only precise and accurate but also making it the right choice for many says laser skin resurfacing expert. But before you can come up with an accurate and successful remedy, you need to be able to define it.