How Long Does a Garage Door Last?

The advertisement features a circular image of a house with a wooden garage door. In the top left corner, there is a logo for 'EUDY DOOR Co. GARAGE DOORS & OPENERS'. The text 'How Long Does a Garage Door Last?' is written in purple on a light green background. At the bottom, a purple bar contains the website URL 'https://eudydoorco.com/'.

The garage door can last up to 15-30 years, depending on how you use it and maintain it.

The lifespan of the garage door depends on the below-given factors:

Usage:

The springs in your garage door are in charge of opening and closing it. The garage door spring has a 10,000-cycle lifespan. The more you use your garage door, the shorter its lifespan becomes.

Proper Maintenance:

If you want to increase the longevity of your garage door, do its proper care. Lubricate the movable parts with the right lubricant. Clean garage door, test the balance of your garage door, and many more.

Quality of Garage Door:

Buy a top-notch quality garage door from a highly trusted retailer. Don't buy cheaper garage doors. Cost and quality is also the main factor of garage door longevity.

Climate Change:

Chances of damaging garage doors in cold weather are more. As a result of which its lifespan decreases.

If you are facing difficulties like:

- Your garage door does not open and closes properly.
- The garage door makes noise.
- Your wooden garage door is warped, cracked, or chipping.
- Garage door parts are rusted or broken.
