

1) MONEY TALKS

Republicans

Republicans prefer letting you decide how to spend your own hard-earned money. They think that if the government takes less in taxes, you'll have more freedom to invest. They believe that private businesses and individuals, rather than the government, should be the main drivers of economic growth.

Democrats

Democrats often believe that we should spend money on programs that help everyone. They're in favor of taxes that fund public services like schools, housing, healthcare, and social security.

2) WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Republicans

Republicans might agree that women deserve equal opportunities but prefer that people and businesses deal with it without government interference.

Abortion : Trump once supported abortion rights, but that changed when he became president. He supports abortion only in case of rape, incest and the life and health of a woman, but he opposes taxpayer funding for abortions and announced he supported states' rights to decide on abortion procedures .

Democrats

Democrats often believe the government should pass laws to ensure equal rights and opportunities for everyone.

Harris is an important messenger on the issue of abortion, She wants to restore the national standard which is everybody should decide for itself and be free to have an abortion. The Supreme Court under Trump's administration took away the national standard and let each state decide on the matter.

3) EDUCATION

Republicans

Republicans usually think local communities and parents should have more say in how schools are run and sometimes believe the government should spend less on education.

Trump wants to "get rid" of the Education Department and "let local areas and states handle education."

Democrats

Democrats tend to support more government funding for schools and programs that help everyone get a good education, no matter where they live.

Harris has called for an increase in teachers' pay, guaranteed debt-free college and the White House made new investments in historically black colleges and universities.

4) HEALTHCARE

Republicans

Republicans believe that letting people pick how they get help can be better for everyone. Republicans often think that people should be able to choose their healthcare options without the government getting too involved.

Democrats

Democrats want everyone to have the same kind of help so no one misses out on getting better. Democrats usually want the government to help more people get healthcare, like doctors and medicine, by making it easier and cheaper.

5) IMMIGRATION AND FOREIGN POLICY

Republicans

Republicans usually think that immigration should be more controlled and that people should follow strict rules to come into the country.

China : Trump wants to hit China with high tariffs because he thinks U.S. workers have suffered under what he calls unfair trade practices that have benefited China.

Israel and Gaza : The Hamas attack on Israel never would have happened if he were president, Trump insists. But he has not articulated his own plan for peace in the Middle East.

Ukraine : Trump said that if elected, he'd stop the war between Ukraine and Russia within 24 hours— without offering many details about how he'd do so.

Democrats

Democrats often believe the government should make it easier for people to immigrate, especially if they're facing difficult situations in their home countries.

China : Harris has strongly supported the Biden administration's view of China as a threat to peace and stability.

Israel and Gaza : Harris called the situation in Gaza a humanitarian catastrophe and called for an immediate – but temporary cease fire. But she also argues for Israel's right to self defense and the elimination of Hamas.

Ukraine : Harris has fully supported the Biden administration's effort to arm Ukraine and to rally European and international support for Kyiv against Russia's invasion.

 6) TAXES

 Republicans

Republicans think that each one should bring what they can and if those with lots of income bring fewer, it might encourage more people to join in and contribute. They believe this helps life run smoothly and keeps everyone motivated to contribute.

Democrats

Democrats think that those who have more income should bring a little extra so everyone can have enough and no one feels left out. They believe this helps everyone enjoy life more fairly.

 7) ECONOMY

 Republicans

Republicans think that if everyone is free to explore their own ideas and work on their own projects without too many rules, society will do better overall.

Democrats

Democrats believe the government should help everyone have what they need to succeed, making sure everyone has the right tools for improving.

 8) GUN SAFETY

 Republicans

Republicans want to keep some old rules, that is to say be able to own and keep their weapons at home and use them safely and freely. But they want to add new ways to help people stay safe and defend themselves.

Democrats

This is a sensitive subject, especially if you have been impacted by gun violence. Democrats want rules to make sure everyone is safe and can live without worry.

 9) CLIMATE CHANGE

 Republicans

Republicans believe in finding a balance between taking care of the Earth and having the freedom to keep on exploiting fossil fuels and maintaining oil and natural gas projects
Trump wants to cancel regulations and withdraw from the major international climate treaty, arguing the rules are threatening job creation and weakening America.

Democrats

Democrats want the government to make big changes to help take care of the Earth. They want to change their habits to improve the climate policies and they encourage climate policy.
As vice president, Harris supported the signature of domestic policy legislation, in favor of clean energy spendings and tax credits for electric vehicles.
